CURRENT RESEARCH PROJECTS

Mothering in the Academy

I have completed the 75 interviews for this SSHRCC SRG funded research and analyzed approximately half of the interviews. I am currently working on several articles based on this research. I am also completing a book prospectus for a monograph developed from this research. The prospectus will be sent to Columbia University Press in the summer 2010.

“Transgressing Motherhood: A Politic and Practice of Outlaw Mothering” National Women's Studies Journal.

I am currently revising this article for publication.

“‘It saved my life’: Mother Groups, Consciousness Raising and the National Association of Mother Centres: A Model for Maternal Empowerment”

I have completed approximately twenty interviews with mother participants of the National Association of Mother Centres as part of my IOF SSHRCC research project on Young Mothers and Empowerment Programming. The article will be completed in the late spring season of 2010.
